SUBJECT: Update to Catalog Course Description and title of ACG 7415 (Seminar in Information System).

The School of Accounting wishes to update the title and catalog description for ACG 7415 (Seminar in Information System). The proposed update is designed to reflect the present status of Accounting Information Systems (AIS) and AIS research. The current title and description uses outdated terminology and could be misconstrued as a course outside of the School of Accounting.

Note that the changes are underlined in the PROPOSED section below.

Required Catalog Changes

CURRENT:

Seminar in Information System (ACG 7415) 3 credits

Prerequisites: Admission to College of Business doctoral program

An exploration of the research issues concerning information systems management, data base management, and EDP Auditing and control.

PROPOSED:

Seminar in Accounting Information Systems (ACG 7415) 3 credits

Prerequisites: Admission to College of Business doctoral program

This course exposes students to critical areas related to accounting information systems research. Topical areas that will be covered, for example, include information technology expertise and information technology governance.
